for Windows® Media Center

HAI makes changing lights, temperatures, and security as easy as changing channels!

Control entertainment, temperatures, security, lighting, and Whole Home Audio

A Windows® Media Center coordinates music, television, and home photography for an enjoyable home entertainment experience. It can play, pause and rewind live TV, play DVD's and CD's, store your digital music, videos and photos, browse the Internet, e-mail, and run Windows® XP and Vista applications.

HAI Home Control for WMC requires a professionally installed HAI Omni or Lumina controller. When connected to an HAI home control system, HAI's Home Control for WMC coordinates security, temperature, lighting, and Whole Home Audio for comfort convenience, and safety. Together, you get incredible performance in a complete home automation system at a very reasonable price.

With HAI Home Control for WMC, the Windows® Media Center neatly displays your HAI system's features. You get menus for lighting control, security, temperature control, macros, the event log, Whole Home Audio interface and more. So you can settle in for a great movie with the lights, temperature and security adjusted exactly as you please.

Display a summary of your home's security status, temperatures, and more.

Reliability HAI's Home Control for WMC is built on:

- HAI's award-winning family of integrated security and home automation controllers.
- HAI's Web-Link II software, the first Internet home access and control product on the market.
- Microsoft's Windows® XP Professional Media Center Edition software, Windows® Vista Ultimate, and Windows® Vista Home Premium.

Convenience Easy to install. Just load HAI's Home Control for WMC into the Windows® Media Center

System. A settings wizard will guide you through the steps to ensure proper connection and operation. No programming required.

Expandability Expand the capabilities of HAI's Home Control for WMC by adding the award-winning Web-Link II software for Internet access and control of security, lighting, and temperatures. Internet video surveillance and recording, as well as the ability to receive e-mails based on programmed events (i.e. the kids have arrived home from school, or a delivery package has arrived) is also available with Web-Link II. *

Change lighting levels from your remote before starting a movie.

* HAI Web-Link II software may be purchased separately or bundled with HAI Home Control for WMC software. Additional equipment and cameras may be required.
